Michael Doran vs. John Mucklow.—Attached to the heat at New Brighton, Mr. Milford erected in 1838, an extensive stath-house, some feet from the shore. The lense of the stablishment passed, afterwards, to plaintiff. One day in Oct. 183, two coal barres (one of them belonging to defendant.) 183, two coal barres (one of them belonging to defendant.) and the stable of the stambout deck at the commencement of a rale. They were ordered off, as the steambout was in sight, and they swing off towards the hath-house, and made fast to it, in which situation they rode out the gale. It is charged that they injured the bath-house by knocking away the piles, &c., and action is brought for damages. It is denied that the barges did the injury complained of, but it had been done some time before by the ice and by a sloop, &c. Judgment reversed.

SCHEMCK PULMONIC SYRUF.—About two years are I contracted a severe coold, which in a short time settled on my lungs, attended with the usual symptoms of consumption, such as severe congen, pain in the breast and side, oppression in the chest, difficulty of breathing, loss of appetite, bectic fevers and night sweats. These continued, and I was daily getting worse. My friends as well as my physician, (after using every remedy in his power to relieve me.) gave me up as a hopeless case of consumption, and said that I must die. In this distribution I heard of Scheneck's Pulmonic Syrup. I so trained it and commenced using it, with no prospect whatever my night sweats were less frequent, and finally disappeared altogether; the heetic fevers gradually disappeared; my cough became much easier, while my expectoration was greatly increased, and I commenced discharging by expectoration great quantities of thick yellow matter. This greatly releved my breast of poin, and I was enabled to breathe easier and conger, I continued to improve, and as my phendible became much easier and songer, I continued to improve, and as my phendible became my state to be a superior of the power of human skill to relieve me. The Bank of the State of New-York has this day declared a dividend of 2½ per cent, for the last six months payable on the 10th inst.

There was not a very large amount of remittence: by the steamer at Boston, mainly in corse once of the rates of Exchange, but to some extent it is the rates of Exchange, but to some extent it is the rate of the rates of Exchange, but to some extent it is the rate of the sold, of course no remittances are required. The amount goes, however, to swell up the aggregate of importations at the Custom-House, and gives an appearance of over-importations, but maximum of the coming crop will have its effect markets, and a moderate rise in prices take place. on of our great staple will be largely increased durin sumption of our great staple will be negly increased uning the coming year both by home consumption in this country and in England, and by the opening of new markets and the extension of eld ones in all parts of the world. This will in a measure neutralize the excess of the present crup and the large stock at Liverpool, and give stability to the market. When an nt does take place abroad, the accumulations of improvement does take place abroad, the accumulations of Cotton at the shipping ports on this side will go on board ship, and the market receive a supply of bills. Sooner or later, of course, the Cotton must go, and remittances will, to a considerable extent, be postponed until bills made by the Cotton movement appear more abundantly.

Prime Sterling Bills at New-Orleans were, at the latest ditte, 8 a 8% premium, and at Mobile 8 a 8% premium. Most of the bills are of unquestionable goodness, drawn against actual shipment of produce. A very profitable operation is made by banking-houses at the North, who buy these bills, knowing well the solvency of the drawers, which the general buyer for remittances does not, and either endorse them or rever for remittances does not, and either endorse them or re buyer for remittances does not, and either endorse them or re-mix and draw their own bills at 10 a 10%, realizing a difference of 1½ to 2 per cent. Our market closed for the steamer at 10 a 10½ for Sterling; 5-21½ a 5.20 for Francs.

During the month which has just closed there has been a general advance in Stocks, especially in sound divi-dend-paying State securities. In New-York Stocks this rise has been in part occasioned by the demand arising for the Free Banks, which has already absorbed a large portion of the 5 per cent. Stocks of this State. The demand is larger for fives than for any other description for this purpose, as the Comptroller gives dollar for dollar on them, and will give but dollar for dol-lar on the sixes. Of course the fives, being at a low premium gives dollar for dollar on them, and will give but dollar for dollar on the sixes. Of course the fives, being at a low premium comparatively, require a small investment upon which to obtain the same amount of notes, and are preferred. This demand has carried New-York fives from 102 to 196. United States Stocks have also improved from 116 to 115. The election of a Whig Governor and Legislature in Ohio rendering the passage of a Free Banking Law, similar to that of this State, almost certain, the Stocks of that State rapidly advanced from 99 to 104 a 105, from which they fell back to 102% a 102%, at which they are steady. Should this law be passed, as it doubtless will be, the Stocks of Ohio will be in demand as a banking basis, and will be gradually absorbed as our fives a banking basis, and will be gradually absorbed as our five have been. In consequence of the virtual failure of the at-tempt to negotiate a new loan on the other side from the hold-ers of Illinois Bonds for the purpose of finishing the Illinois Co-nal, Illinois Stocks have fallen from 50 a 52, to which speculation at one time carried them, to 44 a 445. Indiana have re-mained without marked variation. The Illinois arrangement looks by no means promising. A deficiency of some $300,000 still remains in the subscription, which the foreign holders look still remains in the subscription, which the foreign holders look to have filled here. It is said that about $100,000 of it might be raised if the balance was obtained in England. We understand that the English bond-holders who have signed have made full arenagements on this side the water to carry out their intentions whenever the subscription is full. Thus the matter stands. Even, however, if the needed amount should be raised, it appears by the Illinois papers that it is exceedingly doubtful if their Legislature would lay a tax for the interest, which have one of the structure of the arrangement. Peruwhich was one of the stipulations of the arrangement. Pennylvania Stocks have improved 2 per cent. The Railrond Stocks have been favorite investment, and nearly all are high er than at the opening of the month, and some very considers Cornit, of the New-Jersey Conference, in the Evening, at 7 o'clock. Friends of Seamen, and the public generally, are invised to attend.

Mr. Editor :- An opinion having obtained to so extent that I had assented to, or indirectly encouraged, the violent conduct of some persons who got access (through on of the tenants in the third story) to the roof of my building junction of East Broadway and Grand-street, on the 30th Oc toker, while the Trades were passing, I feel bound to give it plump denial. They went there writagot: My KNOWLENG OR CONSENT. The occupants say "that they gave permis ston to one or two, and then they all rushed and took posses." It was not till after the procession went past I became aware that such outrage had been committed.

Your respectfully,

Nov. 1st, 1844.

Tat the Public and The White Procession of Wednesday, Oct.

To the Public, and The Whig Procession of Wednesday, Oct. 30th, in a vicular

We, the undersigned, having been called upon by several of our friends to inquire into the cause of the disturbance which took place at the junction of East Broadway and Grand-street on the above date, feel called upon, as a duty we owe ourselv at ostate to the public, that the entrance to the top of the house from which the tope was thrown is not through our premises in Grand-street, but through East Broadway, over which we have no control.

And furthermore, we hope that no person will for one moment barbor a thought that we would encourage such an outrageous must to any party or procession.

For the fruth of the above, we refer to David Tappin, directly opposite, or Christopher Bant, the owner of the premise. Yours, &c. or Christopher Bant, the owner of the premise.

Now, &c. or Christopher Bant, the owner of the premise.

IT The Invisible Wig-So closely resembles the The Invisible Wig-So closely resembles the real bead of hair that sceptics and cannoisseurs have pronounced it the most perfect and extraordinary invention of the day. The great advantages of this novel and unique Wig is being made without sewing or weaving, which causes its appearances so closely to resemble the natural hair, both in ightness and natural appearance as to deig detection, its texture being so beautiful, so porous and so free, that in all cases of perspiration, evaporation is unimpeded, and the great evils of other wire entirely avoided. The scientific and comoisseur are affice invited to impose this novel and beautiful wig, and the peculiar method of fitting the head, at the manufacturer's, A. C. CAPTAIN MARRYAT'S NEW WORK THE SETTLERS IN CANADA.

THE SETTLERS IN CANADA.

By Capt. Marryat, C. B. Author of "Peter Simple," "Minterman Ready," &c. 2 vois. Ismo, plates, cloth 75 cts.

"Nothing can be conceived more like the career of a family of settlers than that recorded here. Scenery, modelents, and inacters, are all drawn from nature; everything is as real in "Robinson Crusoe." All the descriptions are marvellous time and life-like. The lake, the prairie, the forest—the aspect of nature at different seasons of the year—the forms of savage life—the character of the trappers who form the link of continuation between the red man and the white—the wonder individual to the character of the trappers who form the link of continuation between the red man and the white—the wonder individual to the continuation between the red man and the white—the wonder and the wind the same of the care the care in the link of continuation between the red man and the wide continues on the care in the link of continuation which the wide tracts of land are reclaimed from the wast and made to teem with life and enjoyment—are exhibited with one of the most pleasing of all the author's praductions, and scertain to continue one of the most popular.
